147 MEN ANSWER CALL

Only One Absentee When Roll Is Called Yesterday Morning—Given Comfort Bags.

Company M. has been mobilized and stands ready for immediate shipment for Camp Douglas, Wis., but one absentee, a remarkable record, 147 men answered the muster call yesterday morning at eight o'clock, an enrollment but three men were absent. Lined up in attention, the men stood in four solid rows extending from one end of the big armory hall to the other, a great throng of men in uniform, mechanics, merchants, Janesville's first organized quota for the great war.

Details of mobilization, and there were many, went off without a hitch. Not an accident, not a sign of disrespect or insubordination marred the strenuous activities of the first day. Despite the fact that over a third of the men are the newest raw recruits, more than one hundred men, living in all parts of the county, reported for duty promptly despite the inconvenient train service. The local unit starts work in earnest. For five hours a day the men will be drilled: in the park, on the streets, in the armory, and at the fair grounds, while every detail of the daily life is guided by military regulation. Captain E. N. Caldwell has divided the company into two main sections, one composed of men who are already equipped with rifles and uniforms, will be given the more advanced movements of drill and extended order work under Captain Caldwell himself. The newer men have been divided up into three groups, the green, the greener, and the greenest. These will be drilled by selected non-commissioned officers.

Major Stepp then advised the men to seek a conference with the mine owners, said the men would observe a truce, while negotiations toward a settlement were proceeding.

Reports were received today of sporadic firing by guardsmen to frighten away looters who continued the pillage of homes and raided a church in the town of Dodgeville.

Take Quantity of Liquor. Although this prohibition territory, great quantities of liquor have been found in vacated homes of exiles. Looters began seizing liquor, and to prevent this, the military police today destroyed 2,000 bottles of beer and several kegs of stronger liquor. It was uncertain early today whether the men would operate, but between 8 and 7 o'clock hundreds of men, carrying dinner pails, walked to the mines ready to go to work if the mines were operated. Incidents in the fight of foreigners continued to come in.

In the great exodus of Saturday, according to a story which seems authentic, one family forgot a baby. Another foreign family packed the baby and took it along, hoping to find their parents later.

Reveal I. W. W. Plot. Jerome, Ariz., July 16.—Two boxes of caps, used to detonate dynamite, and correspondence alleged to reveal details of industrial workers of the copper plants to the copper mining industry in Arizona, were found here today in a suitcase, said to belong to James (Red) Thompson, known as an I. W. W. leader. Thompson's reports were said to be of other men last Tuesday, and is now held at Prescott.

Send Soldiers to Ray. Douglas, Ariz., July 16.—Following reports of troops at Ray, a copper production center in this state, might avert disorder and industrial unrest, a troop of United States soldiers was announced here today at military headquarters.

Army Trooper Killed. Globe, Ariz., July 16.—Private Cassidy, 47, troop of United States cavalry, on strike duty here, was found on the railroad track near Old Dominion mine early today with his throat cut and his body mangled by a freight train. The coroner immediately began an investigation to ascertain whether Cassidy was killed by the train or was murdered, and his body thrown on the track.

TEST OUT KEROSENE AS FUEL FOR MOTORS
Chicago, July 16.—Kerosene as a fuel for motor trucks will be given a thorough test in a 500 mile run scheduled to start today from Waukegan, Ill., to Chicago, and back to Waukegan. NO PROOF IS FOUND
THAT GERMAN GOLD
BACKS I. W. W. CAUSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, July 16.—Reports that the activities of the Industrial Workers of the World in the west recently had been financed by German gold, has failed of substantiation after an investigation by the department of justice.

Officials said today they believed nearly all the German money in this country has been located and virtually none of it has been used in that way.

Rumor General Strike. Chicago, July 16.—A report that all lumber workers affiliated with the I. W. W. west of the Mississippi river would strike beginning tomorrow was disclaimed today by William Haywood, secretary of the organization, who said he had heard nothing of the report.

Quiet Restored in Missouri. Flat River, Mo., July 16.—Comparative quiet has been maintained in the lead belt of southeastern Missouri since the arrest of twenty men on charges of carrying concealed weapons or looting homes of evicted foreign miners. The peaceful disposition of the crowd is due largely to the presence of the Missouri national guardsmen and the conciliatory work of State Labor Commissioner Lewis.

The situation still is serious, however, as the miners claim to have in their belief that they are acting within their rights in driving out foreigners.

Day yesterday the exodus of the foreign born continued, and it is estimated that one thousand have left the lead belt.

A committee of three miners conferred with William Haywood and his officers and Labor Commissioner Lewis, and told of their grievances. Summarized, their remarks were about as follows:

"We want only a chance to work and support our families without being thrown out to make room for foreigners. Winter is coming and miners' companies are discharging Americans to give their places to foreigners."

Major Stepp then advised the men to seek a conference with the mine owners, said the men would observe a truce, while negotiations toward a settlement were proceeding.

GERMANS RUSH TROOPS

Withdraw Soldiers From French and Italian Fronts to Stem Tide of Russian Advance.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, July 16.—The whole Russian front from the Gulf of Riga to Rumania is reported in official dispatches today from Petrograd to the Russian embassy here to be alive with battle. The Germans are said to be rushing up troops from the Italian and French fronts, and to be entirely rearranging their position.

On the northern front, near Riga, German reinforcements are rushing up by sea transports. On the Leningrad front, the troops are being shifted back and forth by means of heavy automobiles, in an attempt to prevent further advances by General Kornilov. On the southern front, in the Carpathians, the Austrians are said to be in full flight.

Take 916 Prisoners Sunday. Petrograd, July 16.—The Russians yesterday captured sixteen officers and 900 Austro-Germans in the battle in Eastern Galicia, says an official statement today. The Russians also took a number of machine guns.

From July 15, the statement says, 334 officers and 33,800 men were captured by the Russians. General Brusilov's forces also captured 93 heavy and light guns, 28 trench mortars, 403 machine guns, 43 mine throwers, 45 bomb throwers, 3 fire throwers, 2 aeroplanes and much equipment.

The Russians drove the Austrians out of the village of Lodziany in the Lomnica river region and retained possession of the eastern end of the town. Northeast of Kalusz the Germans began an attack this morning. The Russians threw them back.

Fighting South of Dvinsk. Berlin, July 16.—The section of today's German official statement dealing with the operations on the Russian front, says there was lively fighting in the Riga sector, in the region south of Dvinsk.

The Austrian army of General Boehm-Ermolli is said to have been thrown back on the Carpathians.

German Attacks on Alsace. Paris, July 16.—The Germans made a series of strong attacks last night between the Somme and Alsace, in the Champagne. Today's official announcement says they were repelled everywhere except near Mont Haut, in the Champagne, where they retained a few trench elements.

British Attacks Halted. Berlin, July 16.—Three attempts made by the British yesterday morning to recapture the positions won by the Germans at Lombriz, on the Belgian front, says an official statement today, were repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers.

CONTINUE CONFERENCE

Kaiser, Hindenburg, Ludendorff and Other Leaders of Military Party
Discuss Ways of Settling
German Crisis.

Copenhagen, July 16.—Dr. George Michaelis, the new chancellor, will deliver his maiden speech in the reichstag Thursday. The address is expected to contain an announcement of his forthcoming program and is awaited with a great deal of interest.

Field Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, summoned to Berlin by Emperor William, are continuing the conferences with party leaders.

Dr. Michaelis is participating in them. Representatives of the Berlin press were received Saturday by General Ludendorff, who said the situation on all fronts was favorable.

The pan-German Independent league met and adopted a resolution of protest against the proposed peace action of the reichstag, declaring adoption of the majority program would result in the indefinite continuance of the war and the political and economic ruin of the Germans.

Dr. Michaelis is the father of a family of a size encouraged by Emperor William. He has six children, but one son has been killed in the war. Two daughters are engaged in public welfare work, and the third daughter is in charge of a soldiers' convalescent home.

Reichstag Leaders. Amsterdam, July 16.—According to the Berliner Tageblatt, reichstag party leaders, after they had been received by Marshal Von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, decided to maintain the terms of peace resolutions agreed on before the interview.

Austrian Peace Move. Amsterdam, July 16.—It is reported from Vienna that the German and Bohemian members of the upper and lower houses of the Austrian parliament have adopted jointly a resolution setting forth their desire for peace within the country, and the possibility of living side by side with the Czechs without abridgement of the national self-determination of both elements. The resolution says, however, that a separate Bohemian constitution would not be recognized.

The adoption of this resolution evidently was prompted by the increasing unrest among the Czechs, an important element of Austria's population. They are reported to have sympathy with the militaristic policy of the Germans and Austrians.

MEMORIAL FOR
LUSITANIA VICTIMS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Queenstown, July 16.—The newest memorial to be placed on the graves of the Lusitania victims is a bouquet of artificial flowers enclosed in a glass case, which also contains a woman's photograph and a small marble cross, with the inscription: "In memory of my dear wife, Margaret Butler, drowned on the Lusitania, 'Vengeance is mine,' saith the Lord, 'I will repay.'"

This and three mounds of earth are virtually all that marked the resting place of more than 1,000 persons who perished May 7, 1915, when a German submarine stunned the world by sending to the bottom of the ocean, twenty-three miles from here, the first trans-Atlantic passenger steamship to be sunk by a torpedo.

There is a movement on foot to erect a great monument over these graves, but it is not likely to bear fruit until the end of the war.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Rome, July 16.—Members of the Italian commission to the United States, which has just returned to Rome, and who are in a position to appreciate the feeling in the United States concerning the case of Alfredo Cocchi, murderer of Ruth Cruger, are urging the government to permit the extradition of Cocchi.

The mission maintained such action would strengthen Italy's popularity in America, and would be in accordance with the spirit, not the letter, of the Italian penal code.

ASSEMBLE 125,000 MEN

Approximately One-half of National Guard Strength Is Mobilized at Home Armories or State Camps.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Washington, July 16.—Mobilization of the national guards for service began today. While order for embarkation of state troops for France will be given until after August 5th, when the entire force will be formally drafted into the United States army, there are indications that some divisions will be regarded as ready to board troopships after that date.

The first class of President Wilson's proclamation providing for the federalization of the national guard for the war, became effective yesterday.

Under it, all guard units from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, North and South Dakota, and Nebraska, were on the federal payroll from that date.

Actual concentration of troops in their home armories or at state camps began today.

Half of Guard Strength. Approximately one-half of the total strength of the national guards, or more than 125,000 men, is included in the fourth assembling.

The first step in their preparations has been to send to the armories additional clothing for their trip to the divisional training camp. Full campaign equipment will be issued at the big camp, reducing the amount of material to be transported with the troops.

Rapid progress is being made in relieving guard regiments which have been in the federal service since the declaration of war, guarding property. This work will be taken over largely by civilian watchmen.

Commanders have been authorized to confer with state authorities in this regard and also to abandon the guarding of any point where they believe it will be necessary to retain guardsmen for the protection of certain big munition works and other property vital to the conduct of the war.

The department commanders will hold such troops as they deem advisable for this purpose.

Leave for Camp Soon. The next step in the general mobilization will be the ordering of divisions to the camp sites, already selected for them. A full supply of tentage is available, department reports show, and the divisions will entrain as rapidly as the commanders of the department from which they come and of those in which their camps are located, agree as to camp employ holders.

The most serious shortage of war equipment for the guard is in the artillery. For training purposes, the big gun regiments undoubtedly will continue to use the equipment they have, supplemented by such additional ordnance as the regular service can spare. It is regarded as practically certain, however, that if the guard divisions are sent to France at an early date, they will be equipped with French artillery on their arrival there. Franchimont, their first camp, will be with the famous French "75."

Will Fight in France. Departure of the guardsmen for France was indicated today by the governed by the shipping problem. War department officials regard many divisions of state troops as virtually ready now for intensive training behind the fighting line in France, which will prepare them for their place in the trenches. There is no reason why some of the first divisions should not be sent to France by transportation and the submarine menace.

DUMB-WAITERS

Devious and queer are the ways of Providence.

In the country we are nourished by a cow who previously has been nourished by eating a layer of green grass off of the surface of the earth; in the city we are nourished by a dumb-waiter.

Our blessings come up a chute.
Butter from the far away cow comes up the chute; ice from the lake; lamb chops from a far away lamb; and vegetables from Somewhere.

If anything should clog the dumb-waiter we would perish—we dwellers in pigeon-hole apartment houses—we clifft men of Manhattan, Kansas City, Indianapolis, Harrisburg, Penn., and elsewhere. Our dumb-waiter-to-mouth existence would be no more, and we would curl up and perish.

Then they would haul us off in an auto to one of the new, modern Condensed Cemeteries, out near the gold links.

Except—to avert this extremity
—we might walk down six flights of stairs and a half block to the delicatessen and get a basketful of nourishment to tide us over.

But devious and queer are the ways of Providence.

SHERMAN TURNS DOWN
INFANTRY FIRST LIEUT.
FOR AVIATION CORPS

Local Boy in Two Minutes Casts Aside Commission to Take Chance of Being Expert Flyer.

George C. Sherman, son of Mrs.
Nellie Sherman, 716 Glen street, held a first lieutenant's commission in his right hand at the Fort Sheridan officers' reserve camp Saturday and heard his commanding officer give him two minutes to decide whether he wanted to keep the commission and go into the infantry or cast it aside in an appointment to the aviation corps.

George is going to be an aviator.
In the two short minutes his decision was to take his chances of gaining lots of glory and for his feet not make the flying corps he goes back to the rank and file, as much a subject to the draft as anyone still hanging onto his job and awaiting conscription.

All the result of his three months' training in the officers' reserve counts for naught if he fails in the flying school. This morning he went to Urbana to join the cadets at the University of Illinois aviation camp.

With fourteen others from Fort Sheridan he successfully passed his entrance examinations Saturday.
It was the worst one he had been through. He described some of the tests to friends yesterday.

"One of them," he said, "is to stand the candidate in a crouch, the candidate at closing his eyes, he has to walk forward to a certain object and then back up. If he fails to step into the angle he is disqualified."
In another test they set up a revolving chair and they told this fellow he was blindfolded and you have to raise your right hand straight upward and with index finger extended bring the latter down over the candidate's head. If you have located before you are whirled."

The belief of the officer examining Sheridan that he could see led him to place a cotton button under the candidate's chin. Three times in succession Sheridan's finger hit the object designed.

Placing the candidate in the swivel chair again and having him bend forward, and between knees, the chair was whirled forty times. Stopped suddenly, the candidate was ordered to sit up straight. Sherman sprang all over.

He was not the only one. There were many others, and in the entire lot which took the tests but one candidate was able to sit straight.

"We were all pretty 'tired' out," Sheridan said, in explaining the tests,
"and the worst of it was this fellow who did sit up with awful chesty, well, he came back to find out how we came to get him. He told this fellow he was disqualified. He asked them why, and they told him because he was able to sit up straight after forty revolutions in the chair that forms that if you are able to do that you have not the proper equilibrium.
Say we weren't happy when we learned that."

But what was standing on one foot for two minutes, the other member kinked and braced at the knee.
After that had passed they were made to repeat the process on the other foot.

This reads as easy as slipping on a banana peel you didn't see on the walk, but just try it once.

HIGH VALUE PLACED ON THE HUMAN SOUL

Rev. F. F. Lewis Points Out Sacredness of Human Life Under Christian Teaching.

"Humanity is made up of folks—people that need God and friends," was the message emphasized by the Rev. F. F. Lewis, in his sermon last evening at the union services held at the Carroll Methodist church. The main thought of the discourse was brought out by Rev. Lewis, was on the value of a human soul, with the text taken from the latter verses of the 8th chapter of St. Mark: "What shall it profit a man, if he gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"

The speaker likened humanity to the vast structureless mass of vapor, known as the mist, which seemed of no individual entity, until examined by the telescope, when it was found to be made up of myriads of stars and planets. The world is a crowd, the speaker said, of no apparent consequence, until the religion of Jesus is turned upon it, when it reveals itself in the individuals, of infinite value. They become eyes that see, minds that grasp and feel, and hearts that love and hope, to those that have this new conception of life.

The members of the church of God gathered to its services to other comfort and existence, but to those within its influence, who need its help.

In its zeal in working for the peoples, of China, and Africa, the speaker said, it should not forget the neighbor, next door, as it may be the one nearest to you, that needs help. There is a new valuation of the human soul, the speaker said, in the line of this thought. All of them are of value to themselves, and others. None can be spared, from the whole world of humanity. Each man's value to society is infinite in importance, the same as each planet has great influence on all in the system. The speaker closed with the prayer that all might look about them with new eyes, that they might consider the needs of this community in which they lived—
"these human souls whose value was beyond price," and work diligently for their salvation.

Appropriate music was rendered by a choir of twenty voices, under the direction of Miss Sewell. They sang an anthem, "I Have Redeemed Thee," in which the solo parts were beautifully given by Dr. Richards, Mrs. Richards, and Miss Sewell. A quartet, consisting of Miss Sewell, Mrs. Welsh, E.
B. Van Pool and Stanley Horwood sang with sweetness and expression.
"Come Unto Me," the last number enjoyed the union services, which owing to the prevailing dampness, were held within the church edifice, instead of on the church lawn, as planned, and many members of other denominations joined in this very helpful meeting.

AUTO STANDS ON NOSE
IN DITCH NEAR ROAD

Robert Miller, a Beloit man, attempted to turn his automobile on the narrow road south of the cement bridge on South Main street Saturday night, and the machine went into the ditch, front first. When Miller climbed out the big car stood almost perpendicular. It was later pulled back onto the road.

KERENSKY VISITS
THE BATTLE FRONT

Kerensky in two poses during his recent visit to the battle front.

The inspiration for the present Russian offensive came several weeks ago when the great Kerensky, youthful war minister and the idol
of all Russia, visited the battle front.
His impassioned speeches had an electric effect upon the soldiers, many of whom threw themselves at his feet and promised to do anything he asked, even to the sacrifice of their lives.

How to Overcome Foot Troubles

Unless a person has actually suffered with tired, aching, burning feet or painful corns or calluses, they cannot appreciate the misery that foot troubles are bringing.

Reports now show that over 90 per cent.
of the American people suffer from some form of foot troubles and modern foot care is said to be causing an alarming increase in this percentage. Therefore, the following should prove of special interest to readers.

Recently in the treatment of these foot troubles by patients using Ice-Mint, tired, aching, burning and swollen feet invariably become cool, easy and comfortable. The first application, while in the treatment of corns and calluses, it was noticed that after a few nights' application, the corn or callus had a tendency to loosen, and in a short time could easily be lifted out with the fingers—root and all—leaving the surrounding skin in normal, beautiful condition.

This, together with the fact that Ice-Mint costs little and is so easy and pleasant to apply, and is absolutely harmless—is no doubt responsible for the high endorsement given it by specialists in the treatment of foot troubles.

When you stop to consider that the simple, pleasant process of rubbing a little Ice-Mint on the foot at night will shortly rid you of even painful corns or calluses, and will keep the feet cool, comfortable and rested even on the hottest days, it is easy to understand its great popularity and why it is now used in nearly every American home. Anyone suffering from foot troubles is advised to give Ice-Mint a trial. There is nothing better.

PETEY DINK—BACK TO THE BASE HOSPITAL FOR PETEY

CARDS AND FORT TIE
3-3 IN TEN INNINGSGAME GOES INTO EXTRA INNINGS
WHEN VISITORS SEW UP SCORE
BY EIGHTH INNING
ERROR.

BEEBE TAKES CHANCE

Passes Two Heavy Hitters to Take
Chance With Third—Fills Bases
But His Nerve Wins.

Twelve hundred frenzied fans saw the Cardinals and Port Atkinson sew up in a three to three tie yesterday and the pastime terminate in the tenth inning when it had to be called to permit Milwaukee players to catch a train.

It should have been a Janesville victory by a good margin, but a couple of mistakes and a thousand to one chance the Cardinals only a tie. With the heavy hitting hero of the local batting order up in the tenth, Beebe, choice after Kluweater was jerked, passed two men and hit a little single would have sent the winning run across. Ryan grounded to Baumman and he tossed to Dohr who covered third.

The rebels came into the lead at the olden wagen. Stock fumbled Miller's grounder and the latter made the circuit on succeeding plays. The Cards made it even all around in the second when Cook, a Northern leaguer, hit a pair and was advanced to second by Ryan, and scored when Dohr juggled Meyer's grounder.

Two more tallies were chalked up in the Cardinal fourth, Peine and Cook counting on three hits, one of them an attempted bunt to sacrifice by Ryan, who reached second as the result of the bushel of errors of the home team in attempting to stop both Peine and Cook.

With two out and a man on third, Baumman hit a liner directly at Crodan in the seventh. It came like a cannon ball and Crodan dropped it, but he recovered in time to throw the ball out at first. Instead, and rather by the swiftness with which the ball came, he attempted to get the ball at the plate and although he most successful with the club, getting a double and a single and refusing to take a walk.

Beebe was afraid of Cook and wanted to give him the first sack graze. Eberts was on third and Cook had three balls called when he batted the fourth, a high one, into Britz's mitts in center. Ryan hit inopportune as Eberts stole home, safe by ten miles. Ryan's hit was handled by Slim Lewis, who had the local lead let it pass. Eberts' crossing the plate would have sent Janesville's fourth run home and the same would have finished right there. Peine's hit in the fourth opened up the rally box and the Cards scored twice as the result of Cook's delivering and Ryan's bunt, which was a source of headache for the visitors.

THE MORAL SIDE.

With all this talk of the military preparedness and the need for troops and drilled men, the fact remains that just as much attention is being paid to the moral side of the soldiers' life as the military. The wonderful work of the Army Y. M. C. A. can not be underestimated. It tells a story of devotion on the part of the men in charge. One has but to read what the English soldiers write of the "Y" and its place in their life in and out of the trenches to appreciate that. This wonderful association is to be found everywhere where its services can be of value. Money for the support of this institution is needed. In Janesville, Mr. Alexander Matheson will be glad to receive contributions and furnish information. It is a cause that looks after the moral side just as the Red Cross looks after the physical ailments, and the Liberty bonds helped pay for the material comforts of the men enlisted or drafted. It is not part of the government, but supported by private contributions, so play your part in the great work and aid as much as possible.

WHO'S TO BLAME?

The Providence, Rhode Island, Journal is anything but pro-German. In fact it is decidedly the other way and is anti-German to the extreme. It carries at the head of its editorial column the following item relative to the spy situation. The fact that the Providence Journal for months past has warned the federal government of the existence of spies in this country who are working for the German government, makes the following item particularly significant in view of many recent occurrences, explosions, most mysterious, knowledge that the American troops had sailed and that route they would take, known to Berlin long before they were sent to Europe. The item in question is perhaps somewhat radical, but it shows what a blue blooded Yankee publication from one of the original thirteen states thinks of the present situation.

"Every German or Austrian in the United States, whether naturalized or not, unless known by years of association to be absolutely loyal, should be treated as a potential spy. Keep your eyes and ears open. Whenever any suspicious act or disloyal word comes to your notice communicate at once with the Rhode Island Bureau of the Department of Justice, Federal building, Providence.

"We are at war with the most merciless and inhuman nation in the world. Hundreds of thousands of its people in this country want to see America humiliated and beaten to her knees, and they are doing, and will do, everything in their power to bring this about.

"Take nothing for granted. Energy and alertness in this direction may save the life of your son, your husband or your brother."

RAPID PROMOTION.

One regular army officer in recently discussing the war situation made the statement: "A man who enlists as a private today may come out of this war with a general's commission. I anticipate a long, drawn-out struggle which will mean millions of boys of the United States will take part. I expect within five years that the United States will have five million men under arms."

When you stop to consider this statement from a man who has spent his life making war his work, who has studied the situation backward and forward and cross ways, it means something. The coming draft is just the start of other drafts as the first Liberty loan was but the opening wedge for larger loans. The first hundred millions for Red Cross work is but a drop in the bucket this nation must pay, and meanwhile we must furnish men by the millions.

These men must be offered and led into battle by trained soldiers. It is not a haphazard proposition, but one that means careful study and attention to details. The training camps will furnish some of these officers, but regular army officers, the national guards still more, but the man who enlists now will have the opportunity of rapid promotion as his ability to command develops.

We have a general of Russian hosts who was born in a log cabin and squallid surroundings. Today he is the idol of the Russian people. Our own Civil war brought forth men from civil life who commanded war armies with skill and efficiency. This war will do likewise. Young men must fight these battles that are to come and they must respond to the call to arms. It will be harder for those who remain at home but we must all play our part—either fight or give.

THE NEW RUSSIAN.

"After me the deluge," said one noted French king on his dying bed and within a generation the deluge came and swept royalty out of France. It was followed by years of uncertainty but taught by the lesson of the United States, France emerged as a republic through a bloody chaos, and with but a few returns to a "Citizen King," a "Bourbon," an empire or two, it has maintained its equilibrium ever since.

Today Russia is undergoing the same chaotic stage. One of the first mistakes was to permit the return of the false prophets who had argued for physical violence against the existing conditions and had either been exiled to Siberia or had escaped to some foreign clime. These men with a thirst for revenge, no thought of patriotism, returned to their native country only to wreak vengeance for imagined wrongs in the past.

Many of these reformers were in the pay of Germany, had been for years, and they immediately instigated a cry for peace with the arch enemy of the former land of the Czar, who came to them as wolves in sheep's clothing, or Greeks bearing gifts, but of which history tells us to beware of. They almost succeeded, but not quite. At the critical time the American delegation, headed by Elihu Root, one of the collect, most calculating and collected American statesmen, appeared on the scene and placed what might be termed a gag on their machine.

Then came the thinking period and then came the reaction and the resumption of the war in violent manner. The soldiers supplied with real ammunition, led by enthusiastic officers, have swept all before them. They have driven back the Austrian and German forces, captured towns and strategic points and are showing a rejuvenation not anticipated by the other allies who had become discouraged.

Meanwhile Germany undergoes a social revolution. An uprising against the present ministry, an announcement from Saxony that it fights for the empire, not the emperor, a change of policy, an unmaking of the real guns, "war with conquest of territory and indemnity or ruin." And Russia understands what it escaped.

The war is not ended. Why no, it has just reached its second wind and will be years before it is over. The revolution in Germany is simply spasmodic and not to be really headed, the natural outcome of conditions, and behind it all is the militarism of the emperor—the power divine—and his degenerate son the crown prince, and the war party. No matter how earnestly the common people wish for peace under any terms it is not to be accomplished, until Germany is whipped, its knees made to bow in submission to the verdict of the civilized world. Then, and then only, will peace come, and meanwhile Russia will fight on.

The admiration felt by the Mexicans for the ideals of the United States in this war dates back about to the time when our government began to lend money.

There is a tremendous outcry against pork barrel methods, but no congressman is reported to have lost votes by money secured for his own district.

From the frequency with which those little red fountains are installed all over the country, one might conclude that gasoline had become the national beverage.

One person in each thirty-five has an automobile now, and of the other thirty-four three are looting on the back seat, and thirty-one are dodging.

If you want to know how the boys feel in the trenches, just stand up at the picnic to see the delivery of the sophomore pitcher home from college.

The fact that a legislator is very jealous of the rights of his state does not prove that he is irrevocably opposed to a federal appropriation.

The pacifists who think the United States needs no navy should be sent out to fight the submarines in canoes.

An enormous amount of shoe machinery is being turned out to produce hand-made shoes for the army.

Also the cotton factories are getting ready to turn out lots of woolen goods for the soldier boys.

And if you want to know how the boys feel in the hospital, undertake to umpire the picnic game.

If our boys are to dig in in France, the taxpayers must dig into their pockets.

For anyone is in the dumps
When he is all upset.

Butchers.
Most butchers look as though they took up their work because it was what they always wanted to do. Butchers are usually well fitted for their work. A large, rosy-cheeked butcher would never adapt himself to architecture or club painting.

The lessons the butcher teaches is: Let us all do the things for which we are best fitted.

Butchers are almost always cheerful persons with bright eyes and healthful colors. They hum and yodel at their work. It is pleasant to see a butcher opening shop in the morning, dusting off his steaks and licking his chops.

Just as much fun to be a butcher as it is to be a golf player. In cutting a large piece of meat off a butcher uses as many sorts of knives as a golf player uses clubs. Forunately butchers do not use such coarse language as golf players do. It is just as well that golf players took the idea up first. One could never send the children to the butcher's if he cursed like a golf player.

In cutting a large piece of meat a butcher first makes a start with his pocket knife, then he gets down a large rapier and several dirks and bibbs. When these are tossed aside he swings a battle-axe to break the bone and then gets out his buck-saw. In some cases a wherry and a scimitar are necessary.

Butchers are usually poor at doing sums. This is why fifteen cents' worth of cold ham always comes to eighteen cents.

with the number of men, wielding brooms every morning, and the throwing of matches or litter on the floor strictly prohibited. It is likely that the old army will be changed in less than a year. Disobedience or infraction of any of the company rules will meet severe disciplinary measures, and the cloak room has been converted into a guard house for the accommodation of the more serious offenders.

In the examination for infectious or contagious diseases given yesterday morning by Dr. F. E. Parnsworth, every man came through with colors flying, and any possibility of an epidemic in the company was dismissed. The doctor's report gave the unit a clean bill of health. Their next examination will come when they reach Camp Douglas and are brought under the watchful eyes of the federal officers.

Three new men were enlisted yesterday, Fred Marsh, Glenn Collier and Edward Berry, bringing the enrollment up to 147. Besides these there are ten or twelve applications to be heard from, and a spirit in the company is expected to be maintained. The company is mobilized, and there is a constant throng of spectators crowded about the doors of the armory.

After an exhaustive search through every store in the city, Captain Caldwell was unable to secure any more coats for the men quartered in the armory, and hence makes an appeal to the citizens of Janesville for the loan of coats while the company is stationed here. The captain will be personally responsible for the condition of all coats upon their return to the owners. As ten men were forced to sleep on the floor last evening, and as there is no possibility of securing coats from the government at this short notice, anyone who will donate one coat for the time being is urged to notify Captain Caldwell at once.

The discharge of two men, Elmer E. Rodgers and Chris Johnson, the sons of the company, because of family and poor physical condition, decreased the actual enrollment to 145, but the enlistment of Benjamin J. Givim of Rockford brought the number up to 148. Next applications are coming in constantly, and a full war strength company is expected within a few days.

Game Fishing

Game Fishing

SPOONS AND SPINNERS.

My Dear Buck:

You wonder where the spoon gets its big drag with the fishermen; well, old trout for trolling and casting, the old reliable spoon is probably more generally used than any other kind of lure. You can check this up in your memory book. It often gets the fish when other lures fail to coax the big fish out of the water.

Of course the spoon doesn't look like any natural bait, nor does it appear to the beginner as a particularly attractive food for a hungry fish, but it does the one thing necessary in the fishing game, and that is, it attracts the fish. After you have had a spoon bent double by an over-zealous fish trying to inhale it, you will realize that it is sure some attractor.

Accidental Discovery of Spoon.

Way back in your A. B. C. days, as piscatorial historians claim, an old sourdough was washing his one spoon and plate after a repast of johnny-cake and bacon, when by accident the spoon flopped into the water and did a salome down to the bottom. As the spoon zigzagged down through the water he noticed the quick, sharp flashes of light reflected from the bowl of the spoon, and at the same time a lake trout getting the light flashes, made a lunge for the spoon, dashed his teeth on it and bent it. Thanks to the old "hard-panner" and his ability to assimilate an idea, we have the legend of spoon baits today. He rescued the spoon, cut off the bowl, bored a hole in each end, lashed a hook in one end and a line in the other, and ate fish for supper that night.

The changes that have been made in the old original spoon in shape, size and decorations, runs up into the hundreds. They are plain, fluted, grooved, hammered, corrugated, ribbed, and without, and as long as they spin around in the water they get the fish. You can get them in gold, silver, nickel, copper, brass or enamel, and if you tried out the whole kit, you'd be busy the rest of the season without a layoff for grub.

Great Stuff for Trolling.

For trolling the spoon hook will hold its own any time. Bass, pickerel, pike and muskie like to give it the once-over as it glides through the water shooting its light shafts in all directions. It can be seen for quite a distance under water and can be used either with plain hooks or with a feathered or buck-tailed treble hook. A single hook with a minnow, skinner, frog or pork rind works well with a spoon.

For bass, a No. 5 tandem Hildebrandt Slim Eli or Standard shape or a Skinner No. 5 Fluted Spoon makes a selection that will help fish the stranger, while pickerel and muskie require a larger sized spoon, say a No. 6 to 10, for a single spoon, and No. 6 for the tandem spinner.

For casting you will need a No. 3 single spoon which you can use without any other bait or with an eyed fly or natural bait. A strip of pork rind cut to the shape of a minnow and used with the No. 3 spoon makes a bait that is a sure enough "killer". As long as you keep moving in the water, a spoon will turn around and you have a chance at attracting the fish, but leaving it die a slow death, and merely come through the water without any action is a loss of time to you. It's the movement and the light shafts from the spoon that attract the fish, and it's up to you to keep the bait moving.

On its way to glory the little old spoon has been copied by the trout fishermen and on a dull day a small Colorado spinner can be seen better than the fly alone. Often when the trout fails to take the fly on the surface, they will give it the "close-up" if sunk to the depth where they lie, with a spoon for a helper. Early in the season when the waters are high and roily as well as clouded with mud, the spinner is an asset to the trout fisherman.

For after-dark fishing, which is the time the big ones are generally on the still hunt for food, the Fluorescent-Tantrum luminous spinner makes a good bait. This is also fine for moonlight trolling. The luminous spinner must be exposed to the sunlight before using at night, the same as the artificial plugs used for night fishing.

When all other lures fail you can generally count on getting the fish if you fall back on the spoon, either in trolling or casting, and your tackle box is not complete old man, unless you are prepared for emergencies with a selection of single and tandem spoons and spinners in nickel, brass and copper. Just remember this, however, keep them well polished and when you use them, keep 'em moving.

DIXIE.

Only one member, Herbert Nichols, failed to appear. Company D is composed of Edgerton and Stoughton boys, and consists of 140 members. The boys went to Stoughton on the morning train, reporting at the armory at 8 p. m. The Stoughton boys have been using guns in their drill, but the local platoon are without equipment. ## HERO OF THE ANCRE GETS VICTORIAN CROSS [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Wellington, New Zealand, July 16.—The military career of C. C. Freyberg, winner of the Victoria Cross and the badge of the Distinguished Service Order, subject of the editorial in the Gazette of July 15, was born, and in all New Zealand. It is summed up in official advice that Lieutenant Colonel Freyberg recently was promoted to the rank of major general for services in the field. As he is only 27 years old he is probably the youngest brigadier general in the British imperial forces. He is a son of the late James Freyberg, a well-known timber expert in the United States. At the beginning of the war he went to New Zealand. He was one of the first to volunteer for service in the Allied defense of Antwerp, serving with the British marines. He was wounded, returned to England, but he recovered in time to take part in the Gallipoli Peninsula. According to an official statement he displayed conspicuous gallantry on April 22 during the landing operation. He was one of the first to swim ashore towing rafts with flares, and reconnoitered the enemy's position. He was in the water more than two hours. By the end of the day he was the only survivor of the attack on the Turkish fort. For this he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order.

At the battle of the Ancre he was the hero of the highly successful attack by the naval division. He was awarded the Victoria Cross for his gallantry in carrying an attack on the enemy's front system of trenches. During the advance he was twice wounded. He again rallied and reformed all who were with him and although outnumbered in a very bad position he held his ground for the remainder of the day and throughout the night under heavy artillery and machine gun fire. He was reinforced on the following morning and he organized the attack on a strongly fortified village, led the assault and captured the village and 500 prisoners. In this operation he was again wounded. This enabled the advance of the corps to be permanently held, and on this line of approach the line was eventually formed.

When in New Zealand Brigadier General Freyberg was known among his intimates by the nickname "Tur".

SAFE FARMING

CULTIVATE CORN INTELLIGENTLY

By P. G. HOLDEN.

MUCH depends, this year, upon a large corn crop, and to a very great extent the size of the yield will depend upon the manner of cultivation. We should bear in mind that deep cultivation, early in the season, saves the moisture, and that shallow cultivation, late in the season, saves the corn roots. It may be deep at first, but it must be shallow later. There are no rules that may be blindly followed for the growing of corn. Any more than for doing other farm work. There is no best method for all sections or for different soils, or even for the different fields of the same farm. Often different methods give equally good results. But there is one motto that should always be followed: Have good ground, do the work on time and do it thoroughly, cultivate intelligently.

Kill Weeds Before They Come Up.

We must remember that if left two weeks or longer, the ground often becomes foul with weeds, which not only take up the moisture but make it hard to work the corn. The ground is apt to become packed by the rain and baked by the sun until it becomes hard and dry and in poor condition. Corn should not be stunted when young, as it never fully recovers, even under the most favorable conditions. There should be frequent cultivation until the corn shades the ground and prevents the rain and sun from beating upon the soil and making it hard and dry. The time to kill weeds is before they come up; before they deprive the corn of moisture and nourishment. Where possible, we should cultivate the corn before it comes up, following the cultivator with a harrow. This saves moisture, kills the weeds and keeps the ground from getting hard and cracked. Deep cultivation the first time will not injure the roots of the corn, and it is best to go deep enough to secure a bountiful mulch. The later cultivation should be no deeper than is necessary to keep the ground clean. It is very important that we disturb the roots as little as possible when the corn is laid by.

Generally, cultivation with a one-horse cultivator after the corn is too large for a two-horse cultivator is not good practice. Even though weeds may have gotten a start, they will do less damage than will the cultivator, which will injure the plants by cutting the roots. This damage is frequently considerable through the breaking down of the corn.

Uneven Checking Cause of Trouble.

Often the yield of corn is reduced and the work of cultivation made slow and difficult through carelessness in handling the planter. Uneven checking can be due to several causes. Generally, in a short field, we draw the wire too tight and the planter checks too quickly both ways. In a long field we are apt to check ahead because of the slack in the wire. This is especially true when the tongue of the planter is raised too high and the team walks fast.

In an irregularly shaped field the checking is very apt to be bad, especially when the ends of the field are not at right angles with the row. In these cases there will be a jog every four rows, the amount depending upon how much the field is out of square.

Poor checking is often caused by carelessness in setting the anchor. It is common practice for us to draw the wire about so tight at both ends of the field. It is a better plan to set the anchor on a line at one end of the field and draw the anchor to tighten it at the other end.

TASTE OF HIGH LIFE ENDS IN BRIDEWELL

He admitted as much today at the Bridewell hospital where doctors were administering treatment and nurses were soothing his fevered brow. He admitted further he had not been robbed despite charges he made against five persons, whose hearing was set for tomorrow. He hoped also he would be able to settle damages suits for $150,000 started by three of them against him. The exonerated persons are Thomas H. Wicks, son of a late vice-president of the Wisconsin State Bank, Mrs. Clara Wicks, a Conger, William F. King, a real estate man, and Mrs. Laura Hooper.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

Bryant Washburn's numerous screen admirers have nominated him for the Hall of Fame because: He was born in Chicago, April 28, 1884, and tells it right out.

He finished school before he went on the stage. He began playing "heavies" and worked into leads in "The Blindness of Virtue," "The Alister Case," "The Prince of Graustark," "The Breaker" and "Skinner's Dress Suit."

He measures six feet, weighs 185 pounds, has dark hair, brown eyes and a chin that defies anybody to mention the dimple.

And after he's finished "The Man Who Was Afraid" he's going to turn around and be a lieutenant in the army!

PRESS AGENT SAYS OLAND IS WONDER

For the delectation of the admirers of Warner Oland the villain of "Patric" and other films, this delightful bit is culled from a biographical sketch submitted by the press department of the company for which Mr. Oland is acting. Despite the fact he has won his greatest success as a screen villain, the man who plays "Mr. Oland" in private life is one of the most jovial, genial men imaginable. He has a hearty laugh that fairly radiates sunshine. He is a born sportsman, with the soul of a true artist. Everything Warner Oland does is artistic, which fact is well exemplified in his work on the screen. While other villains rave and rant, Oland is quiet, reserved and crafty. By a shrug of a shoulder or the studied contemplation of his inseparable cigarette Oland delects the same action a less artistic actor would by bombast. Mr. Oland is the father of the "little theatre movement" in America, and the adapter of many of the plays of Strindberg. His home life is a harmonious one, his artistic temperament, his wife being Edith Shearn Oland, the landscape and portrait painter.

Taylor Holmes is so enamored of acting for screen that he does not contemplate a return to the speaking stage for some time. At least his sentiments are thus reported. Mr. Holmes has been acting

GOOD ROADS FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Better Highways Urgently Needed in Time of War.

A NEW PUBLIC DEMAND

The Transportation of Raw Materials as Well as Finished Products is Now More Important Than Ever Before Because of War-Military Roads a Necessity.

Insistently the need of roads in connection with comprehensive preparedness is being expressed all over the country.

In California the first public utterance of Governor William B. Stephens called for "federal, state and county co-operation in the construction of military roads for coast protection and for defense in other ways." Governor Walter E. Edge of New Jersey was an impelling factor in the recent adoption of a one mill tax for state road purposes. The amount to be raised is $15,000,000. The plans also call for improved communication between New Jersey and New York states through the building of a bridge and a vehicle tunnel under the Hudson. It was former Governor Franklin Fort of New Jersey who suggested an ocean boulevard, the name of which could now easily be changed to that of the Atlantic defense highway. One of the last acts performed by President Woodrow Wilson as chief executive of New Jersey was to approve of a law which looked forward to the state built road system which will become a reality through the legislation obtained by Governor Edge.

Under the direction of Chairman George C. Diehl of the A. A. A. good roads board a special edition of the A. A. A. transcontinental map has been prepared, containing the present main travelable interstate and intrastate roads which would fit into a country wide system that would lend itself in great degree for military purposes.

Highway authorities are facing a new public demand which must be met at once the most careful study. Every resource of the country must be utilized to the utmost, and all unproductive expenditure of money and energy must be stopped. The efficiency of the American army and navy will be fostered by greater efficiency among those called upon to bear the financial strain on our resources and to furnish the labor and materials needed to supply our armed forces. The products of the forest, mine, farm and factory must be supplied to both nation and private consumer at the lowest reasonable cost in order that all may contribute their utmost, whether it be small or large, to the national defense. The transportation of raw materials and finished products becomes far more important than ever before, for transportation charges form a large part of the cost of many essentials. So the road builders of the United States must see to it that the largest return in public service is obtained from the funds they are authorized to spend.

Utility must be given more weight than heretofore in reaching decisions as to road improvements, and mere enjoyment, ordinarily a legitimate object for some expenditure of public funds, must be relegated to the background for a time. Our roads have acquired an importance as agencies in national preparedness which calls for a mobilization of our road builders for the greatest efficiency in the broad transportation problems of the country. Highway programs develop with more regard to the pleasure giving capabilities of the proposed improvements than their value as a part of our combined carrying agencies and must be revised so that taxpayers will contribute to public works of real utility in the country's plans for maximum efficiency. Highways, railways and waterways must be considered collectively, not as unrelated agencies, to the end that transportation shall be conducted at the lowest cost.

Road Building in California. Fifteen million dollars for the completion of the state highway system is available in California.

Work will be done on the trunk lines extending from San Diego to the northern boundary of the state. One-fifth of the sum voted will be devoted to the construction of new highways, among which will be one north from Los Angeles into the sequoia forests. In addition to the state funds, California has available immediately more than $250,000 from the federal state road fund. Work also will begin at once placing signposts in the Mohave desert. The government appropriated funds for posting the water holes after a battle extending over fourteen years. This will make traveling over this highway absolutely safe for strangers.

Make Tramps Mend Roads. Officials of North Wales, a suburb of Philadelphia, following a decision by Magistrate William H. Kirkpatrick, are rounding up tramps and putting them to work on the borough highways. The first of the hoboes to fall foul of the new condition was William Little. Magistrate Kirkpatrick sentenced him to ten days of eight hours each on the highways. When the street commissioner left the room to answer a telephone Little ran outdoors and occupied.

Proving the Adage. "Is ignorance ever bliss, professor?" "Yes, I really think it is. Now, take my case. I worry about germs continually. Those people must be happy who know nothing about the germ theory."—Pittsburgh Post.

Chile is about twice as large as California.

Actual cruelty to Kaffir children is practically unknown.—London Standard.

PORTO RICO RED CROSS GETS 1,200 IN WEEK

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
San Juan, Porto Rico, July 15.—Twelve hundred new members of the Red Cross is the record made by the membership committee of the Porto Rico chapter of the American Red Cross in San Juan during Red Cross week. Though reports from committees working in other parts of the island have not yet come in, it is known that the work was almost as successful on a smaller scale elsewhere. There are now four thousand members of the Porto Rico chapter in San Juan alone, and several hundred more in the other towns, with the number increasing every day. The Porto Rico chapter is said here to be the first chapter of the American Red Cross to be organized outside of continental United States. The charter was not granted until May 1, two months after citizenship had been conferred on the Porto Ricans by an act of congress, and the recognition of Porto Rico as a territory of the United States was the deciding factor in granting the charter.

On account of the newness of the organization the campaign for membership did not stop at the end of the national Red Cross week, but will continue until the maximum number is secured. It is expected that 25,000 members will be obtained before the end of the campaign. The campaign thus far has been solely for membership, the funds collected coming from the initiation fees, but as soon as the enlisting movement is organized throughout the island a campaign for funds will be begun. The Porto Ricans are displaying a remarkable spirit of patriotism. Their interest in the work and mission of the Red Cross is heightened because of the fact that Porto Rican troops already are in the United States service, and because others soon will be called to the colors.

AMERICAN PHYSICIANS FIGHT HOOK WORM IN BRAZIL

Rio de Janeiro, July 15.—Through the efforts of Dr. Charles Seidl, director of the public health department, and Drs. Lewis Wendell Hackett and George Stone of the Rockefeller Foundation, the government has given the American institution free hand to wage a campaign on the "hook worm" in the interior of Brazil. The percentage of inhabitants of the outlying districts afflicted with this disease is high, according to health department officials. Creditable work has already been done by the American physicians and it is believed the proposed campaign will be of inestimable value in the stimulation of agricultural enterprise.

RED CROSS HEAD IS HONORED BY SWISS

Gustave Ador.

Gustave Ador, president of the International Red Cross, has just been elected by the Swiss parliament to succeed A. Hoffman, who was forced to resign as head of the political department following his intrigue with the Socialist Grimm in favor of a German peace.

MANY COUNTIES VOTE DEFENSE BOARD'S AID

Madison, Wis., July 15.—The county boards of defense of forty-three counties have now been voted direct financial appropriations by the county boards of supervisors of these counties. The amounts of the appropriations for defense work are as follows: Ashland, $1,000; Bayfield, $1,000; Brown, $1,500; Buffalo, $500; Calumet, $500; Chippewa, $500; Dane, $3,000; Dodge, $500; Door, $500; Douglas, $5,000; Dunn, $1,000; Florence, $500; Fond du Lac, $5,000; Forest, $330; Green Lake, $2,000; Iron, $1,000; Jefferson, $1,000; Juneau, $500; Kenosha, $1,000; Kewaunee, $500; La Crosse, $1,350; Lincoln, $1,000; Manitowish, $2,000; Marathon, $1,000; Marinette, $3,000; Milwaukee, $2,000; Oconto, $1,000; Pierce, $500; Racine, $3,000; Rock, $2,850; Sauk, $300; Sawyer, $500; St. Croix, $750; Taylor, $500; Trempealeau, $250; Walworth, $5,000; Washburn, $275; Washington, $2,250; Waushara, $2,100; Wausau, $1,500; Winnebago, $500; Wood, $5,000.

In addition to these direct appropriations, the following counties have been supplied for financially until the next meeting of the county board is held: Barron, Clark, Columbia, Eau Claire, Grant, Iowa, Jackson, Langlade, Monroe, Oneida, Richland, Rusk, Shawano, Vernon.

The week's catch of carp was again small, causing a result, a much smaller delivery than was anticipated. Most of the cities that ordered fish were disappointed—not through any fault of the conservation commission or the state council of defense, but because of the unfavorable element of "fishermen's luck."

Orders are on hand from the following cities—in fact these cities desire fresh carp every week: Milwaukee, Madison, Racine, Kenosha, Oshkosh, West Allis, Watertown. The supply of fish is inadequate to accommodate these orders.

When it comes to furnishing men for Uncle Sam's army, Wisconsin can well feel proud of Waushara county, whose total population is only about 20,000. Since June 21, 108 Waushara county men have enlisted in the national guard. Thirty had enlisted before that date. By July 15 it is expected that the company will be up to war strength with a reserve of about 25 men.

Fond du Lac county reports to the defense council an increase of 7.3 percent in the acreage planted to corn this year.

A bronze service button has been sent to every active member of the seventy-one county councils of defense by the state council of defense.

GERMAN PAPER DEPLORES LACK OF EXCHANGE RATE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Amsterdam, July 15.—The Rheinische Westfälische Zeitung of Essen,

Germany, in a leading article headed "New Offensive Against the Rate of Exchange," deplores the decline in the exchange rate of the mark and says: "The enemy has every interest in keeping the rate as low as possible, not only in order to increase the cost of imports into Germany during the war, but to hinder reconstruction of Germany's economic life after the war." The campaign against the rate of exchange of the mark is attributed to a large New York banking house and to the recent increase in the number of Germany's enemies, which has narrowed the scope within which Germany can take measures to improve the exchange, while the realization of securities of hostile countries in German hands is declared to be impossible.

LEGISLATURE TAKES FINAL ADJOURNMENT

Madison, Wis., July 15.—Today marks the end of the fifty-third session of the Wisconsin legislature. Before eight both houses will have adjourned sine die. All had been accomplished early today except the perfunctory adoption of the resolutions notifying the governor that the work of the session has been accomplished and asking him if he has any further information to submit. Lieutenant Governor E. F. Dittmar presided over the closing session in the senate and the Speaker E. C. Whittey presided in the house. The conclusion of the assembly work today marked a unique record for Speaker Whittey. He has not missed a single daily session since the opening of the legislature on June 10.

Over 700 laws have been enacted. Fifty percent of the bills introduced in the legislature were defeated. The records of the senate today show that there were 717 senate bills introduced and 104 joint resolutions. In the assembly there were 721 bills offered and 121 joint resolutions. While the real work of the session was concluded over two weeks ago, so many of the bills passed during the closing days that it has been necessary to hold the legislature in perfunctory session to make the small minor corrections necessary in the law after they have been checked over by the governor.

Speaker Whittey now returns to his work in the executive office, after completing his second term as speaker of the house. Former State Senator George B. Hudnall of Superior, who has acted as executive counsel for Governor Philipp through the session, will leave in a few days to join a large law firm in Milwaukee.

The session of the legislature has been shorter than the one two years ago, although it seems that additional laws would have been considered and this session would have been prolonged into August. Many of the members of both houses returned for the final session today. Many special bargains each day in the want columns. Read them.

SEEK TO SELL COAL ON AGREEMENT BASIS

Madison, Wis., July 14.—Evidence that the coal operators of Illinois have been circulating retail dealers of Wisconsin in an attempt to sell coal at prices based on the agreement which has been repudiated by the war department was forwarded today to Secretary of War Baker, by Chairman Magnus Swenson, of the State Council of Defense.

"We have just wired you as per enclosed copy and we also enclosed circular referred to in the telegram. These circulars are distributed by the coal operators of Illinois in Wisconsin with urgent requests on the part of their traveling agents to buy at these prices. The coal dealers are led to believe that these prices are fixed by government officials and will therefore be permanent. On coal dealer here who gave us the circular informs us that he paid for the washed coal now quoted at $3.50 to $4.15 per ton at the mine last year.

From the information which we have received from the Council of National Defense we note that there is no such agreement, but nevertheless the public are led to believe that such an agreement has been made in violation of your published letter to the contrary.

We are much gratified at the position taken by our President in his address yesterday, but believe that some drastic action is necessary immediately, as the fact that no such agreement exists should be given wide publicity."

The circular which was enclosed is signed by officials of the Illinois coal operators' association and by two other subordinate organizations. It is dated July 2, 1917, and has been mailed all over the state. It is charged by the Council of Defense that the circular is a deliberate misrepresentation of the fact and an attempt to represent the prices quoted as having been agreed upon by the government.

ENEMY BANK AUCTION ATTRACTS LARGE CROWDS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, June 16.—Financial London was greatly interested in the public auction, by order of the public trustee, of enemy banks in the heart of the financial district. There was a large attendance of bankers and financiers, and the fact that the Deutsche bank (Berlin) for which Messrs. Barclays bank paid $1,000,000.

The Dreschner bank buildings were taken by the London City and Midland bank for $50,000, and the Disconto Gesellschaft premises sold for $190,000 to the Corporation of Lloyd's. The Prehold, and premises of the "George and Vulture" and its machines of Dickens, Swift, and John Wilkes were withdrawn after bids up to $87,500 had been made.

The Highest Grade Gasoline in the World is Red Crown

RED CROWN is the perfect efficiency motor fuel because it produces that useful working stroke of the piston, which means smooth, rhythmic power, not the violent slam of the piston produced by the so-called "high-test" gasoline, which racks your engine and makes jerky power. The character of the piston stroke depends wholly upon the rate of combustion. The rate of combustion depends entirely upon adjustment of boiling point fractions in the gasoline. These fractions vaporize at different temperatures and in sequence.

The boiling points in Red Crown Gasoline begin at about 95 degrees Fahrenheit. To focus this point—your engine need be no warmer than your blood to start Red Crown Gasoline vaporizing, therefore making power.

In Red Crown Gasoline there is a continuous chain of boiling points to above 400 degrees Fahrenheit without a gap. The temperature of the head of the cylinder, in which is contained the piston, when the engine is warm, is between 800 and 1,000 degrees, hence it is apparent that not only every atom of Red Crown is vaporized and burned, but that the rate of combustion is steady.

That is why we say Red Crown Gasoline produces that useful working stroke which means smooth, rhythmic power, without waste, and is, therefore, the highest grade gasoline in the world.
